

SATURDAY 8 SEPTEMBER 2012

The Origins of Aylesbury

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE ARCHAEOLOGICAL SOCIETY

The historic origins of Aylesbury

A talk by Michael Farley FSA, former Buckinghamshire County Archaeologist.
Saturday 8 September, 7.15pm, in St Mary's Church, Aylesbury

Admission by ticket only.

Tickets £10 (includes wine), from St Mary's Church and the County Museum, or by post from the BAS Library, County Museum, Church Street, Aylesbury, Bucks HP20 2QP.

Proceeds to the Florence Nightingale Hospice.

Displays in St Mary's Church

by the Centre for Buckinghamshire Studies, the County Archaeological Service, the Young Archaeologists Club and others.

Photographs of Old Aylesbury by Karl Vaughan.

Saturday 8 September for one week

Guided historical walks around Aylesbury

Walks depart from Kingsbury. Each will last an hour, and is free to all-comers.

Saturday 8 September:

11am: What Aylesbury buildings can tell us – led by George Lamb

2.30pm: Church and Churchyard – led by Julian Hunt

ALSO, departing from The Chapel, Aylesbury Cemetery, Tring Road:

11am A tour of the cemetery – led by Roger King of the Aylesbury Society

Sunday 9 September:

11.00am Origins of Aylesbury – led by Mike Farley

2.30pm Geology of Aylesbury and its buildings – led by Philip Powell

Lady Lee of Quarrendon will also grace the town in Tudor costume.

Heritage Open Days arranged by the Aylesbury Society

A number of buildings in Aylesbury will be open that are not normally open to the public. See www.heritageopendays.org.uk

Buckinghamshire County Museum, Church Street

Special displays on the archaeology of Early Aylesbury as well as three Bucks exhibitions: Our Sporting Life, Tree of Life, and Two Jubilee Queens in Bucks. Open 10am-5pm, Saturday 8 September. Closed Sunday.